14. The Company reserves the right to vary at its absolute discretion, the materials to be used in the manufacture of the goods the subject of this Order and replace them with other materials of at least equal quality.
15. Samples of goods are supplied as indicative of the quality of goods to be supplied, without any guarantee or representation on the part of the Company as to exact dimension, colour or physical characteristics.
16. The Customer must ensure that a supply of electricity is available at the installation site. Alternatively, the Customer shall, give the Company not less than 6 weeks in writing of the unavailability of an electric supply to enable the Company to provide and electric generator in respect of which a hire charge shall be paid by the Customer to the Company.
17. Electrical or gas appliances are not guaranteed by the Company and are subject to the manufacturers own guarantee and after sales service.
18. Should any gas or electric appliances become unavailable to the Company for installation due to no fault of the Company, the Customer shall be entitled to withhold payment to the Company only in respect of the cost to the Customer of those items and payment for the remainder of the installation shall be made in accordance with the terms of this Order.
19. Unless specifically provided for this Order does not include any re-plastering, re-tilling or re-decorating works of any kind. Such works shall be the responsibility of the Customer.
20. Claims for loss of goods in transit must be notified to the Company and the Company's carriers within 48hours in the case of gas and electrical appliances and within 3 days for any other goods and in either case must be signed as not examined. Unless this condition is strictly observed, the Company shall be under no liability in respect of loss or damage occasioned in transit.
21. Once accepted by the Company this Order may not be cancelled or varied by the Customer unless the Company so agrees in writing and then only upon terms which will indemnify the Company against loss. Without in any way limiting the rights of the Company the Company will only accept a cancellation or variation of an Order (including without limitation a change in the delivery date agreed) if written notice of the same is given to the Company by the Customer not less than 10 days prior to the anticipated or agreed delivery date. If less than 10 days prior notice is given and the Company accepts the cancellation of the Order, the Company nevertheless reserves the right to make a charge of 25% of the original Order value. Any Order relating to goods made to Order or kitchen appliances of the Order cannot be cancelled after acceptance by the Company.
22. (I) The Company's liability shall be limited in all cases to a maximum of the price paid by the Customer to the Company including installations.
(II) The Company shall not be under any liability in respect of any defect in the product nor in respect of or in connection with any loss or damage including without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing any loss of profit for other consequential loss of any description in connection with the product or any work done in connection herewith.
23. Any waiver by the Company and any concessions shown by the Company shall be without prejudice to the Company's rights under these Terms and Conditions and shall not in any way prevent the Company from subsequently exercising such rights.
24. This agreement shall be deemed to be made in England and any dispute shall be determined in accordance with the English Law
 - (I) The goods supplied under this contract shall remain the sole and absolute property of the Company as legal and equitable owner until such time as the Customer shall have paid to the Company the agreed price and any carriage charges.
 - (II) If the payment for the goods is overdue in whole or in part together with the full price of any other goods subject to another contract with the Company, the Company may (without prejudice to its rights) recover its products and may for the purpose of recovery of its products enter upon any premises where they are stored or where they are reasonably thought to be stored and may recover the same.
 - (III) Until such time that the Customer becomes owner of the goods, the Customer will store them on his premises separately from his own goods and those of any other person and in a manner which makes them readily identifiable as the goods of the Company.
25. This agreement contains all terms of the contract between the Company and the Customer and no variation to both terms and conditions shall be binding unless agreed in writing between the authorising representative of the Customer and the Company.
